INDEX

TO

VOLUME XLV.

Age of Veneer—The Science of Puffing, 87

Alfred, King, Dr. Pauli's Life of, 74; Differences with the Author, 75, 76; his Style, 77; The Danish Invasion of England, 78; Alfred's Boyhood, 79; his Efforts at Self-mastery, 80; his Accession to the Throne, 81; his Faith in God, 82; his Domestic Policy, 83; Church Reform, 84; the Literary Works of Alfred, 85; his Will, 86

Allingham (W.), The Valley Stream, 46; Spring is Come, 524

Albemarle's (Earl) Memoirs of the Marquis of Rockingham, 490

America, South—see Rosas

Autobiography of Captain Digby Grand—see Digby Grand

Ballads, Danish, 649

Books, the Makers, Sellers, and Buyers of, 711

Buenos Ayres, and Rosas, 596

Cambridge, Modern History and other Matters at, 170

Cockburn's (Lord) Life of Lord Jeffrey, 557

Chair Vacant at Edinburgh, 624

Clarendon and his Contemporaries, by Lady Theresa Lewis, 341; Personal Character of Lord Clarendon, 342; Fate of the Clarendon Pictures and MSS., 345; Lord Falkland, 347; Lord Capell, 350; Marquis of Hertford, 351

Colleges at Oxford, 363

Consulate and the Empire, Thiers' History of, 605

Coup d'Etat in France—A Letter to the People of England, by A. V. Kirwan, Esq., 110; Author's Acquaintance with the Country and People, 110; Worst Acts of the Assembly shared by the President, 111; Sketch of M. L. Bonaparte's Career, 112; his Oath as a Member to the Assembly, 115; his Policy from Dec. 1848, to Dec. 1851, 116; M. De Morny, 117; Pretexts for the Coup d'Etat, 118; Bonapartism, 122; Impossibility of Free Voting, 123; Effects of French Dictatorship on England, 125.

Danish Ballads, 649

Dialogue between John Dryden and Henry Purcell on the Subject of their Dramatick Opera of King Arthur, 196

Digby Grand, Autobiography of Captain, or, 'The Dangerous Classes.' Chap. IV. A Guardsman's Duty—A Woman of the World, and a startling Rencontre—Peers and Prize-fighters—The Art of Self-defence and the discomfited Negro, 60. Chap. V. A Popular Roué—Mornings at Richmond—The Opera and its Attractions—A Collision by Lamp-light—The Dangers of Flirting and Fencing, 67. Chap. VI. A Chapter of Ways and Means—The Favourite for the Derby—A Foregone Conclusion Foiled—Raising the Wind—Fortune favours the Bold—The Fashionable Dealer, 182. Chap. VII. A Field Day in the Park—An Old Friend with a New Face—The Artillery of the Eyes—Military Evolutions and Civil Explanations—Teaching the Art of War, and Learning the Art of Love, 191. Chap. VIII. The Afternoon Breakfast—Two Strings to One's Bow—Good Resolutions and their Effects—Rotten Row in the Season—The Red House and its Frequenters—A Cruise in a Four Oar—The Advantages of Training in a close match, 272. Chap. IX. A Man of the World's Opinions on Matrimony—Life in the Highlands—The Mountain and the Moor—Private Play—A Hostile Meeting—A Miss is as good as a Mile, 282. Chap. X. Long looked for Twenty-one—The Old House at Home—Gunning in the Greenwood—A Wounded Warrior—The Foreign Post—'Tis well to be off with the old Love—A County Ball—An Unexpected Meeting—Lovers' Quarrels and Reconciliations, 398. Chap. XI. The Hunting Reveillée—A Crack Meet in 'the Shires'—A Pattern Master of Hounds—The Devil take the hindmost—A Workman at the Trade—The Water Cure, and its effects on the 'First Flight'—Vaulting Ambition that o'erleaps itself—'Tis the Pace that Kills—Who-whoop! 585. Chap. XII. Home, Sweet Home—Equestrian Critics—The Luckless Frenchman—A Chapter of Ways and Means—A Split in the Cabinet, 591. Chap. XIII. Oxford Reminiscences—London at the Dead Time of Year—Bachelor's Hall—The Fortune Hunter at Bath—Trapping an Heiress—Romance versus Reality—The Man of the World and the Man of Sentiment, 673 Chap. XIV. An unlooked-for Acquaintance—A Social Dinner Party—

The History of a 'Danseuse'—An Independent Spinster — Theatrical Ethics, 682
Disraeli, Mr. Benjamin, as Leader and Legislator, 127; Duties of the Leader of the Opposition, 127; Mr. Disraeli's Early Career, 128; English Suspicion of New Men, 129; Mr. Disraeli succeeds Lord George Bentinck as Leader, 130; Session of 1849, 131; Attack on the Manchester School, 133; Motion for Relief of Burthens on Land, 135; Speech on the Address in 1850, 136; The Session of 1851, 137; Jealousy of Mr. Disraeli, 139; By what right does he hold his position? 139; His advance as a Parliamentary Man, 140
Dragons, 216
Dryden's King Arthur, Dialogue between Dryden and Purcell on, 196

East (The) and the West, 472; Empire of the East, 473; Communication by the Isthmus of Panama, 474; America for the Americans, 475; Mr. Squier's cool assertions, 476; Policy of Aggression, 477; Land versus Water, 478; Mr. Asa Whitney's Project, 479; the Great Western, 481; Trade of the Pacific, 482; the Uses of Gold, 483; Our interest in the Question, 484
Edinburgh, a Chair Vacant at, 624
Eighteen Hundred and Fifty One, 17; Prospects at its commencement, 18; the Peace Society no Pacificator, 19; Principles Taught by the Great Exhibition, 20; its Effects, 21, 22; Moral Lessons of the Exhibition, 23; Criminal Statistics of 1851, 24; More Home Comforts for the Poor, 26; a Word for the Omnibus, 28; Revelations of an Omnibus Driver, 31; Operation of the Police Act, 32
Election Row in New York, 104
England, State and Prospects of, 225; Inefficient Condition of our National Defences, 225; Freedom of Opinion in England, 227; Influence of France on Belgium, 228; Military Strength of Great Britain, 229; The Caffre War, 230; the Dispersion of our Ships, 231; Negligence of the Admiralty, 232; Preparations against Invasion imperative, 233; Practicability of an Invasion, 234; Means of Defence, 237; Colonial Administration, 239; New Reform Bill, 240; Engineers' Strike, 243; Effects of Christian Socialism, 244
Euripides, the Phaëthon of—Horæ Dramaticæ, 448
Exhibition of Eighteen Hundred and Fifty One, 17

Ficquelmont's (Count) Lord Palmerston, England, and the Continent, 320
Floreal, 501. Allegory by Arnaud on his Exile, from the French, 503; The Violet, from the Italian, 504; The Parting, from the German, 504; Hope Deferred, from the Spanish, 504; to the Scabious, from the Portuguese, 505; Farewell to the Boyne, from the Irish, 506; On some Girls playing with Snow, from the Latin, 507; Epitaph from the Greek, 507; Lament for Princess Charlotte, from the Hebrew, 508
For the Penny Wise, 224
France. See Coup d'Etat in France; Stephen's Lectures on the History of France; Thiers' History of the Consulate and Empire
France and the Continent of Europe, State and Prospects of, 352; Unexpected Prospect at the commencement of 1852, 352; Faults of the Movement Party, 353; Tyranny of M. L. Bonaparte, 354; Character of Dr. Veron, 355; Censorship of the Press, 357; Ministry of Police, 358; M. Persigny, 359; M. Bonaparte's Senators, 359; Position of the Continental Sovereigns towards M. Bonaparte, 360; Necessity of Preserving the Independence of Belgium, 361; Relations of France and Italy, 362

Game Birds and Wild Fowl, by A. E. Knox, 47; the Author's Qualifications, 47; New 'Dodge' of the Poachers, 48; Partridges, 48; Peregrine Falcon, 49; Wild Fowl Shooting, 50, 51; Hawking, 52; Herons, 53; Woodcocks, 54, 55; Gun-boat Shooting, 56; Wild Geese, 57; Pheasants, 58; Careless Shooting, 59
George III. See Memoirs, Letters, Papers, and Histories of the Earlier Years of the Reign of George III.
Gift Books, suggestions about, 141; recent change in their character, 142; a heap of Stories and Pictures, 143; Mr. Wray's Cash-Box, by Mr. W. Collins, 143; Mr. Miller's Village Queen, 143; Kindness and Cruelty, 144; Mrs. Myrtle's Stories, 144; Aunt Effie's Rhymes, 144; Child's Play, 145; Andersen's Tales, 145; Mr. Hervey's Pathway of the Fawn, 146; Difference between English and German Story Books, 147
Gosse's Naturalist's Sojourn in Jamaica, 379
Grenville Papers, edited by J. W. Smith, 485
Grumbler (A), on the Licence of the Streets, 147

Holland's (Lord), Memoirs of the Whig Party, 435; Lord Holland's Early Life, 435; Burke and Fox, 436;

Friends of the People, 438; the Whigs and the French Revolution, 439; Lord Holland on the Continent, 440; Arthur O'Connor and O'Coigley, 442; Sheridan, 443; the King and the Roman Catholics, 444; Horne Tooke and Grattan, 445; Presentation to Bonaparte, 446; Death and Character of C. J. Fox, 447

Horæ Dramaticæ. Querolus, or the Buried Treasure, 291; Phaëthon of Euripides, 448

Huc's Travels in Tartary and Thibet. See Tartary.

Hungarian War, History of the. Chap. III. Movements of the Ban Jellachich, 94; Duplicity of the Imperial Family, 95; the Palatine an exception, 96; Illegal appointment of a Dictator, 97; Murder of Count Lamberg, 98; Battle of Velencze, 99; Appointment of the Ban as Imperial Commissioner, 100; Battle of Schwechat, 101; Rise of Arthur Görgey, 102; Kossuth's Power as an Agitator, 103. Chap. IV. Prince Windischgrätz, 200; Austrian Preparations for War, 201; Abdication of the Emperor, 202; Statistics of the Armies, 203; Görgey's Evacuation of Raab, 204; Battle of Moor, 205; Scene in the Hungarian Parliament, 206; Arrest of Louis Batthyanyi, 207; Austrian Occupation of Pesth, 208. Chap. V. Prince Windischgrätz's Treatment of the Jews, 208; General Bem, 209; his Advance into Transylvania, 210; Battle of Herrmanstadt, 213. Chap. VI. Görgey's March into the Carpathians, 329; Retreat on the Theiss, 331; Battle of Iglo, 332; Henry Dembinski, 333; Görgey's Mutiny, 335; Concentration of Troops round Kapolna, 337; Dembinski's great Crime, 339; Conspiracy against him, 340. Chap. VII. Occupation of Szolnok, 459; Defeats of the Invading Armies, 460; Kossuth's Government, 461; Austrian Charter of 4th of March, 463; Kossuth appointed Dictator, 464; Act of Independence, 465; Görgey's Mutiny, 467; State of the Austrian Empire, 469; Russian Intervention, 470. Chap. VIII.—Indifference of England and France about the Intervention, 575; Kossuth's Return to Pesth, 577; the Palatinal Hussars, 579; Kossuth's Crusade against the Russians, 580; Battle of Pered, 581; Görgey disobeys the Orders for his Deposition, 582; Progress of the Russian Army, 583; Gorgey's Treason, 584. Chap. IX. Close of the Struggle, 687; Battle of Temeswar, 689; Kossuth Resigns his Power to Görgey, 690; Kossuth's Flight, 691; Görgey Surrenders to the Russians, 692; Vilagos, 693; Defence of Komorn, 694; Klapka's Pusillanimity, 795; his Surrender, 696; the Bloody Assize of Hungary, 697

Hypatia; or, New Foes with an Old Face. By the Author of Yeast, and The Saint's Tragedy. Chap. I. The Dying World, 1. Chap. II. The Laura, 10. Chap. III. The Goths, 157. Chap. IV. Miriam, 163. Chap. V. A Day in Alexandria, 303. Chap. VI. The New Diogenes, 315. Chap. VII. Those by whom Offences come, 417. Chap. VIII. The East Wind, 425. Chap. IX. The Snapping of the Bow, 541. Chap. X. The Interview, 546; the Author to his Readers, 553. Chap. XI. The Laura again, 700. Chap. XII. The Bower of Acrasia, 705

Jamaica. See Naturalist in Jamaica

Jeffrey's, Lord, Life, by Lord Cockburn; Character of the Work, 557; Jeffrey's early Life, 558; at the Bar, 559; Editor of the Edinburgh Review, 560; his Notices of Contemporaries. 561

King Arthur, Dialogue on the Dramatic Opera of, 196

Kirwan, A. V., a Letter to the People of England, 110. See Coup D'état in France

Knox's Game Birds and Wild Fowl, 47. See Game Birds

Lamprey, the, 517

Last Buccanier, the, 214

Lewis's, Lady Theresa, Lives of the Friends and Contemporaries of Lord Chancellor Clarendon, 341

Licence of the Streets, 147

Mahon's, Lord, History of England, 494

Makers, Buyers, and Sellers of Books, 711

May, the Month of. See Floreal

Melville, G. J. W., The Alarm, 595

Memoirs, Letters, Papers, and Histories of the Earlier Years of the Reign of George III.; 485, The Grenville Papers, 485; Memoirs of the Marquis of Rockingham, 490; Lord Mahon's History of England, 494

Meredith, G., The Sweet o' the Year, 699

Modern History, and other Matters at Cambridge. See Stephen's Lectures on the History of France

More Marine Stores—The Narke, 631; Sturgeon, 635; Ranæ or Lopheus, 638; Eels, 640

Musical Season, Opening of the, 525

Narke, the, 631

Naturalist in Jamaica, Mr. Gosse's book, 379; the Voyage Out, 380; a Night Scene at Sea, 381; Prickly Pears, 382; Entrance to Bluefield's Bay, 383;

Wild Pines and Humming Birds, Lunar Rainbows, 384; Glow Flies, 385; Palm Trees and Ferns, 386; Changeability of Colour in Lizards, 387; Night-blowing Cereus, Pond Turtles, Black Snakes, 388; Land Crabs and Snakes, 389; Yellow Boa, 390; Curious Habit of the Sand Gatoo, 391; Manatees, 392; Crocodiles, 393
New York, an Election Row in, 104
Nursery Literature, 563; Tendency of English Rhymes, 564; their Merits, 566; Influence of Mother Goose, 567; French Songs and Stories, 568; Modern Books to be recommended, 570; Andersen's Tales, 571; Ethel Lea, 573; Sir Hornbook, 573; Want of Good Songs, 574

Opening of the Musical Season, 520

Pauli's, Dr., Life of King Alfred, 74. See Alfred
Phaëthon of Euripides—Horæ Dramaticæ, 488
Popular Superstitions, 215
Preserved Meats, 410; Sketch of the Process, 411; How the Mischief comes, 412; Cheap and Good Meat for the Navy, 414; for the Poor, 415; an Antediluvian Dinner, 416
Puffing, the Science of, 87
Purcell's, Henry, Dialogue with Dryden on their Opera of King Arthur, 196

Querolus, or the Buried Treasure—Horæ Dramaticæ, 291

Ranæ, or Lopheus, 638
Rhine-land, the Sketcher in, 659
Rockingham, the Marquis, Memoirs of, 490
Roebuck's History of the Whig Ministry of 1830, 245; Difficulties of Contemporary History, 248; Mr. Roebuck's qualities for an historian, 246; His means of information, 247; William the Fourth, 248; the spirit of the book, 249; Queen Caroline, 250; Bentham and Peel, 251; Canning, 251; Character of the Duke of Wellington, 252; the Whig Opposition, 253; Character of Daniel O'Connell, 253; of Sir James Graham, 256; Lord Grey's Ministry, 257; Dissolution and Defeat of Reform Bill, 258; Lords Lyndhurst and Brougham on the closing night of the debate, 259
Rosas, the Dictator of Buenos Ayres, 596; Early Career, 597; Becomes Dictator, 598; French Pedlars in South America, 599; Northern and River Provinces of the Argentine Republic, 600; Our Commercial Policy in South America, 601

Science of Puffing, 87
Shark and his Cartilaginous Cousins, 508; the Lamprey, 517; Skate, 520
Sketches in Rhine-land, 659
Skate, 520
Squier's Nicaragua. See East (the) and the West
State and Prospects of France and the Continent of Europe, 352
State and Prospects of England, 225
Stephen's (Sir J.) Lectures on the History of France, 170; Appointment as Professor of Modern History at Cambridge, 171; the Moral Sciences Tripos, 173; Question of Professorial Teaching, 174; Comparison between English and German Universities, 177; Sir James's Attack on Sociology, 179; the Doctrine of Special Providence, 181; the Future of England, 261; Present State of France, 263; Constitutional History of France, 263; Free Gaul, 264; the Romans in Gaul, 265; Feudal-Imperial Period, 266; Feudal Monarchy, 267; Absolute Monarchy, 269; Revolutionary Period, 270
Sturgeon, the, 635
Suggestions about Gift Books, 141

Tartary and Thibet, French Missionaries in, 33; M. Huc's Work, 33; Difficulties of the Undertaking, 34; a Tchakar's View of the Chinese War, 35; Search after Argols, 36; Doctrines and Practices of Buddhism, 37; Lamanism, 39; M. Huc's Method of Accounting for Miracles, 40; Buddhistic Abuses of Roman-catholic Customs, 41; Arrival at Lha-Ssa, the capital of Thibet, 42; the Regent of Thibet, 43; Ki-Chan, the Chinese Ambassador, 44; Christianization of Thibet, 45
Tauromachia, or Spanish Bull-fights, 533
Thiers' History of the Consulate and Empire, and its applicability to Coming Events, 605; Marriage of Hortense, 606; Expedition to St. Domingo, 608; Policy of the First Consul, 610; Consulate for Life, 612; Action for Libel against Peltier, 614; Camp at Boulogne, 617
Turner, the late J. M. W., 151

Veneer, the Age of, 87

END OF VOL. XLV.

Savill and Edwards, Printers, 4, Chandos-street, Covent-garden.